

July 1, 1941.

The Employers' Group of
Boston, Massachusetts,
1180 Raymond Boulevard,
Newark, N. J.

Gentlemen:

I am writing to enclose bills for medical treatment to some of the Members of the Newark Eagles Baseball Team. Dr. Darden advised me to inform you that he did not know where covered by insurance, which is the reason he proceeded to treat these men without notifying you.

We have operated in Newark now since 1936 and this is the first year we have carried the insurance. Dr. Darden has been the physician for the Team ever since we came here, and has always taken care of all the men. If you prefer having me deal directly with your Doctor, please let me know. There is an important angle however that the Doctor who takes care of the Ball club must be at all times available. If a man suffers an injury in a ball game, we like our Doctor to be within easy reach.

In the case of Leonard Pearson, his injury was suffered on June 22nd, he has been unable to play since as a result of it. I will notify you when he is able to resume services.

If there is anything in this letter not clear to you, I will come in to see you, if you desire.

Very truly yours,

EM:CCJ